Why Chai?

Before joining Temple Chai we had many opportunities to participate in family simchas of friends who were members of the congregation. We could easily see the embracing warmth of the Temple Chai Clergy and community and the forward-thinking combination of traditional ritual, contemporary and emerging music, and strong focus on youth programming and interfaith outreach. Reflecting on our experiences as members of the congregation, these qualities have remained constant.

But change is inevitable, too. In recent years and currently, time and again we've appreciated the extraordinary talent and versatility of clergy, professional staff and volunteer leadership, and their ability to adapt and evolve—boldly and effectively navigating financial, public health and other challenges with the support of dedicated congregants and auxiliaries.

What makes this all very personal are treasured friendships we have with others in the congregation, which the 2015 Israel trip helped spark. Visiting Israel with our Temple Chai family was truly a life-enriching journey. Another special bonus that almost goes without saying has been the joy for both of us when Mitch gets to perform with Cantor and the Chai & Mighties!

Why Chai? To us Temple Chai makes possible the best of what "Jewish community" is all about. We can't wait to see everyone back at the building we call our spiritual home!

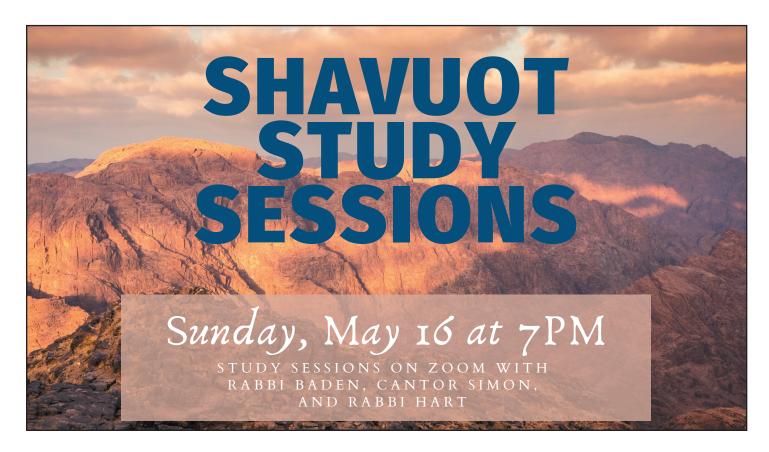

Revelation

It is said that the giving of Torah was an event limited to one particular place and at one particular time in our collective history: at Mount Sinai, just seven weeks after our ancestors made their way out of enslavement in Egypt. Yet, it is also said that the receiving of Torah is a practice that is a continual event in which we are always able to participate. Indeed, although Torah is an ancient and familiar text, every time we read from it we can glimpse a new insight that has been waiting for us to discover it. It is not that the stories change from year to year, but rather it is we who approach the narratives with new experiences, perspectives, and capacities for understanding what we had not previously recognized.

As we continue to emerge from our pandemic period, we realize that we have a new appreciation for what has been revealed to us this past year. We have been inspired by the gift of intellect that allowed researchers to develop vaccines in record time. We have been moved by the gift of empathy that pushed us to find innovative ways to help each other from afar. We have been grateful for the gift of community bonds that transcend physical space. As much as we celebrate these marvelous revelations, we have also been able to open our eyes to the uglier side of our world this past year. We have witnessed social and political divisiveness that have been exacerbated by those who should be bringing us together. We have seen the rise of prejudice in the form of antisemitism, racism, and anti-Asian rhetoric and violence. We have experienced how vulnerable our democracy has become, and we worry about the rise of extremism in our nation.

As we anticipate the holiday of Shavuot, which celebrates the giving of Torah, may we continue to receive it as our community has done for countless generations. May it serve to be, as the Psalmist wrote, a "lamp to our feet and a light for our path" so that we can see both the blessings and the challenges in front of us, and so that we can commit ourselves to the work that is yet to be done.

Kol Sason – A Voice of Joy!

Yom Habikurim Sameach! Happy Shavuot — The Festival of the First Fruits!

Shavuot originally began as a harvest festival when God commanded our ancestors to celebrate the harvest of the first fruits of the wheat crop. In ancient times the early harvest season began with the barley harvest at Passover and continued 7 weeks until the harvest of the first of the wheat crops when the people were instructed to bring the bounty of the harvest, represented by two loaves of bread, to the Temple. All would make a pilgrimage to the Temple to celebrate the harvest festival together. Hundreds of years later, after the destruction of the Temple, Talmudic Rabbis assigned new significance to the holiday, as a commemoration of God's giving the Torah to Moses on Sinai seven weeks, or fifty days, after the Exodus.

The holiday was reframed from one celebrating God's gifts of agricultural bounty into one thanking God for the gifts of Torah and celebrating the bounty of God's wisdom and our desire to actively apply Torah and engage Jewishly. When thinking about this year's Shavuot holiday I can't help reflect that the last year has been a revelation to so many of how dearly we hold Temple Chai as a communal lifeline which miraculously continues to bear fruit as our place of self-identification; where we joyously share gifts of personal and Jewish productivity. The last year has also shown us on a grand scale, the incredible relevance of Torah to the world as a living and ever evolving guide to creating a just, compassionate society in which all people are treated as creations of God and equals; both in their value to God and in their responsibility to care for and respect each other, their communities and God's earth.

Looking ahead to the excitement of another new ritual and music programming season, I hope we can emulate and include the Torah's message of grateful celebration, communal living and communal responsibility in all we do. Are you a musician who has yet to get involved in our choirs our bands? Please contact me! We would love to have you or your child's participation! Together, let's bless God with fruits of our creative labors!

Wishing you a healthy holiday and a productive summer!

Turning Our Learning Over And Over

Rabbi Ben Bag Bag said "Turn it, and turn it, for everything is in it. Reflect on it and grow old and gray with it". (Pirkei Avot 5:21) The "it" is Torah and we know that as we read the same Torah portions each year after year, the part that is changed is us. We reflect and grow, change, and gain new experiences and thus perspectives. As we celebrate receiving the Torah at Mount Sinai during Shavuot, it's a time to reflect on all that we have learned this year. And even despite the pandemic, even despite the changes in how we gathered, we learned A LOT and we grew A LOT and we experienced A LOT of new things! In many ways the pandemic forced us to look at our learning with renewed enthusiasm. We explored a new model of Hebrew Small Groups out of necessity and found that, wow, these small groups make learning Hebrew more fun, focused, and personal! We gave families a choice of virtual or hybrid learning experiences; and about half the school choose to be in person and half choose to be virtual. Thus we learned how to create community in new ways, how to be more flexible to individual needs and fostered deeper relationships. And due to virtual learning and exploring new technology, we were able to hear new voices, learn with others across the country and even the world in new ways that were not possible before!

Yes, as we reflect on this past year, things were different. But just as we turn Torah over and over, we can see new insights because we are always evolving. Turning our learning over and over, we too gained new insights and perspectives and can appreciate all that we have learned in new ways this year! Many of these changes are truly enduring blessings and will last well beyond the pandemic. May we continue to reflect throughout this season of Shavuot about what is meaningful in our lives and continue to carry those enduring blessings with us just as we carry the lessons of Torah and grow with them from year to year.

Forward In The Upcoming Year

We are finally in the season of summer and able to spend time outdoors, reflecting on the past months. The festival of Shavuot is in May. It is time to reflect on lessons learned this past year, and what lessons we want to incorporate in the upcoming year.

We say family comes first, yet, how easy was it for time to pass before seeing a parent or spending time with your children? It has been hard to be apart. The elderly were so isolated this past year, it was painful not to be able to give them a hug. During these months, we have learned to live with our children once more. Many adult children came back home from college and we found ourselves connecting in countless ways. Many of us had to help school our own children and this gave us the opportunity to spend more quality time together. Family has been our best medicine. The lesson we learned is to never take our family for granted.

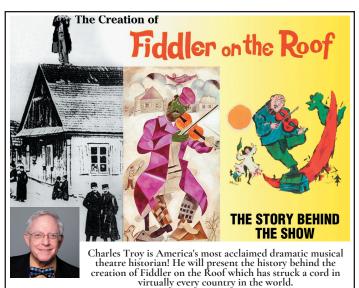

We took care of our physical health. We have worn masks, washed our hands, cleaned, and taken vitamins. We have exercised with online classes. We have taken long walks which have nourished our soul and bodies. We are stronger and more resilient.

We have spent countless hours at home where we have learned new skills and hobbies. We have read lots of interesting books. Zoom and the Internet gave us opportunities beyond our imagination. We have sparked our creative side in ourselves and gained wisdom.

Most important, we have learned that teamwork and leadership has made our Temple Chai community stronger. We joined new virtual Chavarah's and formed new bonds of friendship. As a community, more of us have attended services and have found our spiritual side. Temple Chai, Women of Temple Chai, Chai Guys Brotherhood and the Israel Committee have provided educational and fun programming throughout the year. We have learned the lesson that together our community has the courage to persevere.

Finding New Ways To Get Involved

One lesson I take away from Passover each year is there is always hope, and it is a teaching that is old and familiar and new and exciting at the same time. You see it in the story we tell during the seder of our freedom from Pharoah and Egypt. As we have traversed this changed landscape the pandemic brought on us this past year, it was as if we struggled like the ancient Israelites did before leaving Egypt. However, with millions of people receiving vaccines each day, it feels like we are getting closer and closer to freedom, to normalcy, to our own Sinai and revelation. One thing that has been clear since the beginning is the dedication of the clergy, staff, leadership, and affiliates working together to create new yet familiar experiences to continue strengthening our congregation. As we begin to emerge from the virtual world, and as we come upon Shavuot - the holiday celebrating receiving the Torah – I challenge each of you to find a new way to involve yourself in the Temple Chai community. Join one of our affiliate groups or a committee, attend Saturday Torah study, read the candle and wine blessings on Friday evening Shabbat services. Doing these new things will renew the sense of awe and gratitude for what Temple Chai brings into our lives.

As we transition into another year at Temple Chai in July and a new group of Chai Guys Brotherhood leaders, I would be remiss to say how proud I am of what we have achieved and will continue to work towards as a brotherhood. Know that this group of guys are truly committed to the Temple and making it a vibrant place not just for the Chai Guys, but for all of us. It is with a heavy heart that I write this last column as the Chai Guys president but know that you are being left in good hands. Thank you for the honor of letting me help lead the Chai Guys, and I look forward to continuing to be an active member of our brotherhood and the synagogue.

Sharing the Israel Experience

The beauty of the Land of Milk and Honey will come to life in a post-Shavout celebration on our June 2022 journey to Israel. You don't have to travel to Israel to appreciate the dairy frenzy and all the wonderful cheesecake, blintzes and other dairy recipe treats being exchanged, but for the first time we will venture to the Holy Land and bare witnesses to the Kibbutzim and Moshavim display of the marvelous fruits of the spring harvest.

As Shavout is a time of learning, our pilgrimages have always been enhanced by the knowledge that we accumulate through our Temple Chai Israel educational and cultural experiences.

Recently, all the Israel trip travelers were treated to amazing memories of our Homeland Journeys as we reunited in the virtual world. The participants were delighted to visit with our tour guide Yoram and our trip security advisor Shachar who "zoomed" live from Israel. Participants were also treated to a special appearance by Ariella Rada from the Midwest office of the Consul General of Israel who praised the work of Temple Chai and showed appreciation for our years of support.

In April we celebrated Yom Ha'atzmaut (Israel's Independence Day) as Temple Chai presented the life of the "Lone Soldier" (but not lonely soldier) in the IDF. We ended that month flying high with Israeli teens that dreamed of rebuilding an old war airplane as Temple Chai proudly hosted the screening of Sky Raiders, from this year's virtual Chicago Festival of Israeli Cinema.

We look forward to continuing to engage our community with programs that will generate discussion and a greater knowledge of our homeland.

Humans of Temple Chai: Loren and Jim Elliot

Loren and Jim Elliot Members of TC 28 years Home: Lake Zurich, IL Married: 40 years Two children, Brooke and David (Natalie) Two grandchildren, Olivia and Jake

Every synagogue has that one couple everyone knows. They pop up everywhere — greeting congregants before Shabbat services, managing the parking lot when it gets crowded, or filling vacant board positions. They are dedicated to the advancement and betterment of the institution.

At Temple Chai, Loren and Jim Elliot are that couple.

Temple Chai members since 1993, the Elliots joined because they "were looking for an interfaith community that would welcome us and realized a reform congregation would be a good fit," Loren says. Jim, a Catholic boy from Massachusetts, attended Northeastern University in Boston, and Loren, a Jewish girl from Chicago, attended Northeastern University in Chicago. The two universities have nothing in common, but Jim and Loren did. They met in 1979 while on a singles cruise.

"You might call it the Love Boat," Loren laughs.

Jim graduated with a criminal justice degree and was prepared to move to Las Vegas to work in law enforcement. But the cruise changed all that. They married in 1981, had two children, Brooke and David, and have been living in Lake Zurich for the past 30 years.

Jim has worked in law enforcement for 40 years, and Loren worked in technology for 21 years at District 214 until her retirement in 2016.

Jim's journey to Judaism didn't happen overnight. He actually never planned on converting. "Circumstances later in my life made me realize that I needed spirituality," Jim explains. "Although we raised our children Jewish and basically lived a Jewish life, I had not been too involved."

It wasn't until Loren became temple president that Jim started to get involved.

"I decided to attend services and more temple social events," he says. "I realized what I needed was to fully immerse myself."

In 2011, while on the Temple Chai Israel trip, Rabbi Hart performed Jim's conversion ceremony.

"It was an amazing moment and I was grateful and humbled," he says.

Temple Chai has become their second home. Because of their dedication to temple, they have been heavily involved as lay leaders during their 28 years of membership. Loren served as Temple President from 2010 to 2014.

"I started out as chair of the Education Committee and went on to Education VP, Worship VP, Executive VP, Board President and now Board Secretary. I have definitely come full circle," says Loren.

For the last few years she has been a familiar presence in the temple office, volunteering her time to help with anything that needs to be done. Jim has served on the Interfaith, Israel, and Nominating committees, and was recently asked to chair the Building and Public Safety Committee.

The couple considers it a privilege to serve Temple Chai.

"It's been my honor to serve in leadership over the years," says Loren. "It has had a deep and profound effect on me."

No doubt when we are all back in the building, you will see Jim and Loren welcoming our members, pouring wine, assisting the clergy, and just being present. We are fortunate to have them call Temple Chai home.

Spice of Chai

"Why do we eat dairy on Shavuot? The origin of this custom is unknown. It stands in contrast to the traditions surrounding other Jewish holidays, which often call for eating meat. Since it was often more expensive than other foods, meat was reserved for celebratory events.

Rabbinic tradition has suggested a number of reasons for this custom. Chapter 4, verse 11 of The Songs of Songs compares Torah to honey and milk. As a result of this lovely comparison, it is typical on Shavuot to eat blintzes, cheesecake, and noodle kugels." As answered by Rabbi Victor S. COUNTING THE OMER AND THE FESTIVAL OF SHAVUOT SUNDAY, MAY 16

The counting of the Omer (S'firat HaOmer), which lasts for 49 days, takes place at night, commencing on the second night of Pesach. Those who "count the Omer" recite a blessing each night of the 50-day period:

Why Do We Count The Omer?

The seven-weeks between Passover and Shavuot is known as "the omer" period. An omer ("sheaf") was an ancient measure of grain, and refers to the barley offering brought to the Temple on the second day of Passover. Starting on that day, the Torah instructs: "you shall count off seven weeks. They must be complete: you must count until the day after the seventh week – 50 days" (Leviticus 23:15-16). The festival of Shavuot is observed on the 50th day.

What is Shavuot?

The holiday celebrates the giving of the Torah on Mount Sinai as well as the grain harvest for the summer. In biblical times, Shavuot was one of three pilgrimage festivals in which all the Jewish men would go to Jerusalem and bring their first fruits as offerings to God.

How Do We Celebrate Shavuot?

Today, we celebrate Shavuot by going to synagogue to hear the 10 Commandments, having festive meals of dairy foods, staying up all night to learn and reading the Book of Ruth. The meals and synagogue attendance are customs for any Jewish holiday.

ָבָּרוּך אַתָּה יִי אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֱלֶך הָעוֹלָם, אֲשֶׁר קִדְשָׁנוּ בְּמִצְוֹתָיו, וְצִוְנוּ עַל סְפִירַת הָעְמֶר.

Baruch atah Adonai Eloheinu melech ha-olam asher kid'shanu b'mitzvotav vitzivanu al s'firat ha-omer. Blessed are You, Adonai our God, Ruler of the universe, who sanctifies us with mitzvot, and commands us .concerning the counting of the Omer

Yeladim Magazine

Shavuot, a Jewish holiday that occurs 7 weeks after Passover, celebrates learning and Torah. The holiday honors the time when Moses received the Ten Commandments from G-d on top of Mount Sinai, thus the reason Shavuot celebrates Torah and therefore education. In ancient times the holiday represented the end of the spring barley harvest and the beginning of the summer wheat harvest. Traditions included bringing offerings of crops to the Temple in Jerusalem. The holiday has since become a time of celebration and appreciation of Torah, learning, and Jewish life.

–By Maya Heller

Shavuot celebrates the time when Moses received the Ten Commandments from G-d on top of mount Sinai. Some of those commandments (rules) include, "don't steal", "Do not make idols" and more. In this activity try to come up with ten rules you want to follow and write them on the picture included. They can be anything you want, such as "Be nice to my siblings", or "offer to clean the dishes". Get creative with your commandments, and email a picture of your work to yeladimmagazine8@gmail.com to have your commandments featured in the next edition of Yeladim Magazine.

What is a Uniongram and the YES Fund?

Uniongrams are donations to the Women of Reform Judaism YES Fund in honor of a celebration, simcha, death, or life cycle events. The YES Fund (Youth, Education, and Special Projects) represents the collective financial efforts of individual donors and WRJ-affiliated sisterhoods to strengthen the Reform Movement and ensure the future of Reform Judaism. Email Fran Sachs at franstc@hotmail.com to send a Uniongram. Contact Sandi Firsel at sfirsel@comcast.net with any questions.

How does the purchase of Uniongrams help the YES Fund?

The funds collected by purchasing the Uniongrams (note cards) goes directly to the WRJ YES Fund.

How can I obtain the YES Fund products?

If you want to send a Uniongram for a celebration, simcha, death, or life cycle events, just send an email to Fran Sachs at franstc@hotmail.com and she will send one out to the receiver of the Uniongram and inform them of your contribution. It will cost $5.00 and Fran will bill you for your contribution. Also, you can purchase packets of Uniongrams, special cards, or make your own contribution to Women of Reform Judaism to the YES Fund. We can help you with your generous gift and help you make a difference. Any questions contact Sandi Firsel at sfirsel@comcast.net.
